Aberration Edward East

The most devastating plague in human history has driven mankind close to extinction. The world will never be the same and survival is truly for the fittest. In a small Massachusetts town four young men, ages 17 to 19, have managed to survive on their own for six years. With civilization nonexistent they must rely on their instincts and skills in order to survive. In a bold attempt to secure their future the four set out in search of resources and other survivors. Their first encounter with people provides them with an odd companion who helps save their lives and changes their future. Their safety is tested by brutal weather, a dangerous meeting with other survivors, and a pack of wolves. Packed with adventure and thought provoking “what ifs,” Aberration is the story of a world with few people, no rules, and where survival depends on who you can trust.
