Auszug: ...is becoming more intelligently aware that big figures do not mean exceptional output of brawn and brains, and, conversely, that small returns are not always the fault of feeble efforts. Yet it is customary to give tabulated accounts, and as we have a very good showing to make, in a year when we have done nothing special to secure large totals, we gladly submit the following figures: The desk circulation of volumes taken home was 91,232, which is 200 more than last year. As there was no summer branch of the library this year, and as by its omission we lost about 5,000 in circulation, our gain over 1906 was made by steady custom at the main building and by the returns from the five deposit stations. This steady patronage is very different from the weekend rushes of a dozen years ago. Indeed, the change in the character of our custom is interesting to note. Because of cheaper theaters and more of them, cheaper magazines and more of them, trolley trips, Sunday excursions and the tendency to spend spare time out of doors, persons employed every week day do not now come, Saturday night, to get their inevitable novel for Sunday. Furthermore, the reading required of children in the public schools, by reducing their book-hunger or their leisure, decimates their daily invasion after school-hours for an Optic or a book about Indians. Yet, though the rush of life tends to lessen the reading habit, we have registered 745 new patrons this year. The opening of a subscription library by private enterprise on Main Street has taken away much of our call for the six best-sellers; yet our statistics report that Concord still reads of its public library books about 74 per cent, of fiction. Another library may...
